Q7

If you can not see God in all you can not see God at all ~ Siri Singh Sahib

Describe what this saying means to you?

God permeates the entire creation and is visible in everyone and everything we know and within the unknown as well.

a)How would you apply this saying in your day to day service on the board?

Recognize God's presence in all aspects of life and within my service to humanity and ultimate merger upon leaving this human body.

b) How would apply this perspective to help our community and organizations move forward together?

See the mission and larger cosmic plan, Gods plan and Gods hand in everything I and we do to serve humanity and this planet.

Q8

What do you understand the Role of the SSSC to be and how do you see the SSSC carrying out that role on a:

Practical Level

Planning, oversight, day to day and long term operation of the for-profit and nonprofit organizations

Spiritual Level

Recognize the roll of God in Sikh Dharma practices and lifestyle. Infuse every day with Gurus' teachings to serve and uplift humanity.

Q9

As an SSSC Trustee you are accountable to the Sangat.

How would you build and enhance the relationship between the Sangat and the SSSC?

The SSSC is part of a close knit community. Given that board members are likely to have strong connections to that community, explain how you will be able to adhere to the SSSC confidentiality policies that apply to board members?

Positive support for policies and actions of the SSSC and by reporting to and receiving feedback from Sangat.

I would follow the PR policies, Bylaws and rules of the SSSC. Disclosure of confidential or restricted information would be handled according to rules established by the SSSC and its subsidiaries

Q10

The SSSC strives to be an inclusive organization and cultivate a diverse and intergenerational community that supports the long-term sustainability of the organization. How would you help foster connection, engagement, and collaboration across generations and communities within the SSSC?

My role in furthering the policies, vision, and mission of the Dharma and SSSC includes the recognition of intergenerational participation, as well as across the spectrum of constituents, for profit and non-profit subsidiaries under the control of the SSSC.

Q11

The Siri Singh Sahib taught that we should be known for our service

What do you see as the three (3) greatest challenges facing the Sikh Dharma/3HO Community and the family of For-profit and Nonprofit entities?

How do you see the 3HO/Sikh Dharma family of Nonprofit and For-profit organizations serving humanity in these times?

What would you do as a Trustee to overcome these challenges?

What skills, tools, and techniques will you bring to the SSSC Board of Trustees to help it move toward the vision you described above?

Being known for our service and success in uplifting humanity

Keep a neutral service oriented approach to service, aligned with the different goals of the for profit and non-profit entities

Focus on the goals and mission of each entity within the whole, keeping them funded, maintained, functional and in tune with the times and trends and technology to achieve success across the board.

Application of effective and efficient organizational skills, along with positive communication to achieve success and closure in a timely manner.

Q12

Board service regularly requires 20 to 40 hours per month (or more) in board and committee meetings. In addition, there may be multiple Face-to-Face meetings per year.

Can you fulfill these requirements?

Yes

If so, how will you balance these requirements with your other personal and professional responsibilities?

Adjust personal and professional responsibilities accordingly

What do you anticipate being the most difficult part of serving as a Trustee on the SSSC Board?

Awareness of the broad issues, policies, vision and direction required to maintain and succeed in the mission of the larger organization.

Q13

Directors must maintain reliable access to email and demonstrate basic technology proficiency — including the ability to use a computer, manage calendar invitations, and read and respond to board communications in a timely manner — recognizing that board-related correspondence may occur on a daily basis. Can you fulfill these requirements.

Yes

Q14
